| Grades 11-12 HP | ELAGSE11-12RL1: Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text, including determining where the text leaves matters uncertain.
Know:
- textual evidence is a quote, paraphrase, or summary from a text that supports a specific argument or claim that is being made
- some evidence may not yet be verified or the author may not have adequate evidence to satisfy his/her position or the “verdict” of proof for an interpretation is left up to the reader (literature)
Do:
- draw inferences from literary text to make and support an analysis that uses strong and thorough evidence gathered from reading
- determine where the text leaves matters uncertain and be able to infer what happens next
- support their conclusions with explicit and implicit textual evidence
- synthesize evidence collected from the text to best support their conclusions
Prerequisites:
- draw inferences from literary text to make and support an analysis that goes beyond the obvious by using strong and thorough evidence gathered from reading
- support their conclusions with explicit and implicit textual evidence
- synthesize evidence collected from the text to best support their conclusions |
- Review citing strong and adequate evidence to support explanations of what a text says explicitly and implicitly
- Model analyzing texts to determine when the author has adequate evidence and where gaps exist, including when authors acknowledge such gaps
- Analyze how and why the author may have left matters uncertain
- Routinely assign reading passages of appropriately complex grade-level text to challenge and extend students’ “endurance”
- Explain, model, and enforce the practice of annotating as you read
- Allow students to choose at least a small percentage of their own reading material within appropriate complexity levels to foster an ownership of their literary development and to explore their own tastes
- Within the broad parameters described by the GSE (fiction/non-fiction/technical text/poetry) explore a wide variety of genres, including avant-garde genres
- Practice in-class reading, both silent and aloud, and incorporate professional audio and video renditions of text as well as graphic novels and other visual art as a viable way to experience text
- Always require textual evidence and support for any claim, argument, or opinion from a text, even in informal discussion |
| Grades 11-12 HP | ELAGSE11-12RL2: Determine two or more themes or central ideas of a text and analyze their development over the course of the text, including how they interact and build on one another to produce a complex account; provide an objective summary of the text.
Know:
- how to analyze and compare two or more works by the same author, from the same period, from different cultures, presented in different forms, with similar themes using given criteria
- how central ideas and themes interact (love and tragedy) and build on one another (love and bravery)
Do:
- analyze the development of multiple themes throughout the text, including evidence from the text as support
- synthesize the analysis of the major ideas in two or more texts in order to compare the complexity and depth of each text
- describe how central ideas and themes interact and build on one another to develop the full message of the text
- summarize the text using the central themes as well as supporting details
- use a range of textual evidence to support summaries and |
- Choose texts that express complex or multiple themes. For fiction, choose a novel that features two or more equally strong and likable protagonists in direct opposition to one another
- Engage students in extrapolating two or more themes in a text and analyzing how each is developed over the course of a whole text
- Illustrate how central ideas and themes within a text influence each other and build on one another to convey the full message
- Provide explicit instruction including strong examples on classic themes of American Literature (Individualism, the American dream, “noble savage,” etc.)
- Provide clear-cut opportunities for the creation of both unbiased summaries and argumentative analysis. Model both and provide strong student examples
- Whenever practical and possible, choose short texts and more sustained readings that will spark strong reactions |

Grades 11-12 HP
ELAGSE11-12RL3: Analyze the impact of the author's choices regarding how to develop and relate elements of a story or drama (e.g., where a story is set, how the action is ordered, how the characters are introduced and developed).
Know:
- that an author makes a conscious choice about developing and relating a story
- those choices impact meaning
Do:
- analyze an author's choices regarding the development of literary elements in a story or drama (setting, plot, characterization)
- analyze the impact of author's choices regarding the development of literary elements on the story or drama itself and/or the reader
Prerequisites:
- analyze characters (e.g., flat, round, static, dynamic, stock, archetype, antihero, etc.) and their traits
- differentiate character motivation and analyze how those motivations influence theme or story
- recognize how complex characters develop and change over the course of a text
- analyze how character interactions can advance the plot and theme of a text

Grades 11-12 HP
ELAGSE11-12RL4: Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in the text, including figurative and connotative meanings; analyze the impact of specific word choices on meaning and tone, including words with multiple meanings or language that is particularly fresh, engaging, or beautiful. (Include Shakespeare as well as other authors.)
Know:
- how to identify figurative language in text

| Prerequisites: | For a particular story or drama, analyze why the author may have chosen a particular setting, mood, language style, character types, events in plot
|----------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Prerequisites: | Examine the impact of the author's choice on the literary piece and on the reader
| Prerequisites: | Purposefully and thoroughly provide instruction in foundational work of American Literature and relate the literary works and characteristics to the literary period in which it was written
| Prerequisites: | Guide students in learning to identify literary or rhetorical elements of texts by examining discrete elements in isolation.
| Prerequisites: | Use précis writing as a foundational skill preliminary to advanced analysis. A précis requires concise summary coupled with identification of literary or rhetorical elements, theme/topic, audience, and purpose.
| Prerequisites: | Expose students to texts from a variety of genres; comparing literary elements of drama, narrative, film, etc.
| Prerequisites: | Have students experiment with the impact of specific changes on plot, setting, and character
| Prerequisites: | Isolate and examine the techniques most often/most artfully employed by individual authors, noting how the nature of these choices lend a flavor to their overall body of work

| Prerequisites: | Have students routinely identify diction, syntax, tone, imagery, and figurative language in every work they examine
| Prerequisites: | Practice all recommended strategies for making meaning of unknown words (context, roots, word structure, reference materials, etc.)
| Prerequisites: | Require students to keep a journal of phrases and quotes that they

11th/12th Grade ELA Curriculum Map

- words have connotations (associations or secondary meanings) as well as denotations (the dictionary definition of a word) (e.g., stingy, scrimping, economical, thrifty)
- tone is the author's attitude toward the topic
- every text has a tone, and that an author's choice of words and phrases controls the tone of the text
- tone can be formal or informal
- language evokes a sense of time and place
- words may have multiple meanings when used in specific contexts (foot in science and math)

Do:
- analyze text for word choice and analyze how the use of language advances the plot or affects the tone or pacing of the work
- determine how word choice affects meaning and advances the plot
- analyze how specific word choice creates fresh, engaging, and aesthetically pleasing text
- analyze how words with multiple meanings create aesthetically pleasing text
- examine the specific patterns of diction in the text and determine its specific impact and overall meaning

Prerequisites:
- analyze text for word choice as it impacts meaning and tone of text
- analyze how specific word choice sets the tone of a text (e.g., formal vs. informal)
- analyze how word choice creates a sense of time and/or place
- analyze and evaluate the overall patterns of diction in the whole text and its impact on meaning and tone
- analyze the cumulative impact of figurative language (e.g., metaphor, simile, metonymy, overstatement, oxymoron, understatement) and its impact on meaning and tone
- particularly like (these can be analyzed for patterns periodically, giving students insight into their personal aesthetic preferences as readers)
- Integrate new vocabulary into lessons and lectures

Grades 11-12 HP

ELAGSE11-12RL5: Analyze how an author’s choices concerning how to structure specific parts of a text (e.g., the choice of where to begin or end a story, the choice to provide a comedic or tragic resolution) contribute to its overall structure and meaning as well as its aesthetic impact.

Know:
- know aesthetic impact is the appreciation of beauty

Do:
- analyze an author’s choices about structure and organization of a story or drama (e.g. multiple points of view, flashback)
- analyze the effect of an author’s choices on the story or drama itself and/or the audience
- analyze the literary devices used to determine the rhetorical and/or aesthetic purposes of the text
- analyze how author’s choices impact the overall structure, meaning, and aesthetic impact

- Allow students to explore texts that experiment with structure in interesting ways (such as magical realism)
- Require students to isolate and analyze structural elements (such as identifying the climactic scene and defending their choice through text evidence)
- Have students compare and contrast texts that are suspenseful, comic, or otherwise create an emotional/tonal response; direct students in identifying a variety of structural approaches to achieve a similar results (for example comic structural elements like surprise or dramatic irony)
- Explore the structure of poetry including metrical terms and formulas (such as iambic pentameter) and rhyme scheme
- Engage students in analyzing an author’s choices about structure

Back to Top
Prerequisites:
- identify multiple or parallel plots within a text and how they impact the meaning of text
- analyze how the author manipulates time in the text and how it creates effects such as mystery, tension, or surprise
- classify and evaluate the sequence of events in a text
- examine how the structure of the text creates an emotional response from the reader
- analyze an author's choices about structure and organization of a story or drama (e.g., multiple points of view, flashback)
- analyze the effect of an author's choices on the story or drama itself and/or the audience

Know:
- the meaning of satire, irony, hyperbole, and understatement
- how to recognize an author's use of satire, irony, hyperbole, and understatement
- authors use language to create effects which are sometimes not directly stated

Do:
- analyze text in order to recognize and interpret styles of writer's craft (e.g., sarcasm, satire, irony, and understatement)
- evaluate how words or expressions can carry literal and figurative meaning (e.g., in Marc Antony's speech from Julius Caesar: "Brutus says he is ambitious, and Brutus is an honorable man")
- evaluate how the author's use of irony creates nuances in a text

Prerequisites:
- determine which details in a particular work of literature relate to a cultural experience or support the author's or character's point of view
- compare and contrast the author's or character's point of view or cultural experience from a wide variety of texts
- analyze how a particular cultural belief affects the point of view of a topic
- analyze how cultural experiences differ in literary works of similar topics
- evaluate the influence of cultural experiences and their effects on the author's or character's point of view within a text

Know:
- there are multiple interpretations of literary works
- interpretations may differ from the original intent

Do:
- compare and contrast specific characteristics of different genres as they develop and change over time for different purposes (i.e., personal, meditative Colonial writing vs. public, political documents of the Revolutionary era, or replication of traditional European styles [Bradstreet, Taylor] vs. emerging distinctive American style [Dickinson, Whitman] in poetry).
- Choose text examples to introduce these concepts that are accessible and engaging (for example a Mark Twain or David Sedaris satirical essay may be much more effective in introducing the concept than Jonathan Swift).
- Ensure that students begin with a very strong grasp of the basics of figurative language (metaphor, simile, personification, hyperbole, idioms)

Grades 11-12 HP

ELAGSE11-12RL6: Analyze a case in which grasping point of view requires distinguishing what is directly stated in a text from what is really meant (e.g., satire, sarcasm, irony, or understatement).

Know:
- the meaning of satire, irony, hyperbole, and understatement
- how to recognize an author's use of satire, irony, hyperbole, and understatement
- authors use language to create effects which are sometimes not directly stated

Do:
- analyze text in order to recognize and interpret styles of writer's craft (e.g., sarcasm, satire, irony, and understatement)

- compare and contrast the author's or character's point of view or cultural experience from a wide variety of texts
- analyze how a particular cultural belief affects the point of view of a topic
- analyze how cultural experiences differ in literary works of similar topics
- evaluate the influence of cultural experiences and their effects on the author's or character's point of view within a text

ELAGSE11-12RL7: Analyze multiple interpretations of a story, drama, or poem (e.g., recorded or live production of a play or recorded novel or poetry), evaluating how each version interprets the source text. (Include at least one play by Shakespeare and one play by an American dramatist.)

Know:
- there are multiple interpretations of literary works
- interpretations may differ from the original intent

Do:
- compare and contrast specific characteristics of different genres as they develop and change over time for different purposes (i.e., personal, meditative Colonial writing vs. public, political documents of the Revolutionary era, or replication of traditional European styles [Bradstreet, Taylor] vs. emerging distinctive American style [Dickinson, Whitman] in poetry).

Prerequisites:
- analyze written text (story, drama, or poem) compared to a source text or different interpretation of that text (e.g., Tristan y Isold vs Romeo and Juliet)
- evaluate how the alternative version depicts the original text

Grades 11-12 HP

ELAGSE11-12RL9: Demonstrate knowledge of eighteenth-, nineteenth- and early twentieth-century foundational works (of American Literature, British Literature, World Literature, or Multicultural Literature), including how two or more texts from the same period treat similar themes or topics.

Know:
- the various characteristics of foundational American literature from the eighteenth-, nineteenth-, and early twentieth centuries
- how to connect the major ideas and themes common in American literature by time period

Do:
- compare and contrast similar themes or topics in two or more texts from American literature written in the same time period
- must analyze two or more authors' treatments of themes or topics in foundational works of American literature written in the same period

Prerequisites:
- analyze how and why an author transforms source material in a specific work
- analyze the purpose an allusion serves in a text

Grades 11-12 Support Standard

ELAGSE11-12RL10: By the end of grade 11, read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems, in the grades 11–CCR text complexity band proficiently, with scaffolding as needed at the high end of the range.

By the end of grade 12, read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems, at the high end of the grades 11–CCR text complexity band independently and proficiently.

Grades 11-12 HP

ELAGSE11-12RI1: Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text, including determining where the text leaves matters uncertain.

Know:

- Grades 11-12 HP

- Provide informational texts with clear central ideas logically developed as exemplars
- Analyze how two or more central ideas interact and build on one another to convey the author’s purpose
- Provide informational texts from American history or British history with nuanced or complex central ideas to challenge readers and provide contrast
- Provide opportunities for students to write objective summaries of texts and provide exemplars of biased and unbiased summary
- Require students to reverse-engineer outlines of provided texts as well as outlining texts they will write
HP
Know:
- General meanings of words as well as uses for effect: figurative, connotative, technical
- Techniques authors use to refine and shape the meaning of key terms over the course of a text (imply contextual meaning that may persuade, create desired image or tone)

Do:
- Determine how the author uses words and phrases to match the purpose of the content
- Analyze how the meaning of a key term is shaped over the course of a text

Pre-requisite:
- Determine how the author's use of words and phrases suits the purpose and impacts meaning and tone
- Analyze the cumulative impact of specific word choices on meaning and tone

Grades 11-12 HP
ELAGSE11-12RI5: Analyze and evaluate the effectiveness of the structure an author uses in his or her exposition or argument, including whether the structure makes points clear, convincing, and engaging.

Know:
- How authors use the structure of text (sentences, paragraphs, sections) to convey their message or purpose
- Ways to evaluate the effectiveness of structure for the author's purpose (is point clearly presented, convincingly stated, and engaging for the reader)

Do:
- Determine the effectiveness of a text structure for an author's purpose
- Identify where text structure contributes or does not contribute to clarity of exposition or argument
- Critique effectiveness of structures used to convince and engage the reader

Pre-requisites:
- Analyze how text structures (particular sentences, paragraphs, or larger portions of a text) were used by an author to develop and refine ideas and claims
- Describe specific sections of text used to refine an idea or claim

Grades 11-12 HP
ELAGSE11-12RI6: Determine an author's point of view or purpose in a text in which the rhetoric is particularly effective, analyzing how style and content contribute to the power, persuasiveness, or beauty of the text.

Know:
- Purposefully choose texts in which biases and author's point of view are readily evident, as well as texts where the author may intentionally obscure his point of view or motives, allowing students to be challenged in identifying the intent behind clever rhetoric

| Grades 11-12 HP | ELAGSE11-12W1: Write arguments to support claims in an analysis of substantive topics or texts, using valid reasoning and relevant and sufficient evidence.
  a. Introduce precise, knowledgeable claim(s), establish the significance of the claim(s), distinguish the claim(s) from alternate or opposing claims, and create an organization that logically sequences claim(s), counterclaims, reasons, and evidence.
  b. Develop claim(s) and counterclaims fairly and thoroughly, supplying the most relevant evidence for each while pointing out the strengths and limitations of both in a manner that anticipates the audience’s knowledge level, concerns, values, and possible biases.
  c. Use words, phrases, and clauses as well as varied syntax to link the major sections of the text, create cohesion, and clarify the relationships between claim(s) and reasons, between reasons and evidence, and between claim(s) and counterclaims.
  d. Establish and maintain a formal style and objective tone while attending to the norms and conventions of the discipline in which they are writing.
  e. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows from and supports the argument presented. |

Know:
- an argument is a logical way of demonstrating that a position, belief, or conclusion is based on reasoning and evidence gained from analysis of a topic or text
- a claim is a debatable thesis—something on which people could have differing opinions
- an analysis is an examination of a complex topic or issue
- the effectiveness of an argument is grounded in valid reasoning and appropriate evidence

Do:
- establish precise, knowledgeable claims that demonstrate a thorough analysis of a topic or text
- Provide engaging, stimulating, and relevant text-based topics for argumentation
- Model and engage students in writing arguments that address the Know and Do of this standard
- Vary writing assignments to include both short and sustained projects, researched argumentation, group projects, and multimodal writing
- Require formal manuscript styles on some assignments, including formal works cited pages and appropriately formatted citations
- Require specific textual evidence for all claims and supporting evidence, including formal and informal writing and discussion
- Point out persuasive strategies in everyday discourse (for instance when students argue against weekend homework)
- Include the study of and writing of literary criticism as a type of argumentative writing

| Grades 11-12 HP | ELAGSE11-12W8: Gather relevant information from multiple authoritative print and digital sources, using advanced searches effectively; assess the strengths and limitations of each source in terms of the task, purpose, and audience; integrate information into the text selectively to maintain the flow of ideas, avoiding plagiarism and overreliance on any one source and following a standard format for citation. Know:
- what plagiarism is and how to avoid it
- how to cite sources using a standard format (in TCSS, we use MLA)
- how to use advanced searches (e.g., scholarly databases, library searches) to find relevant, credible research to answer a research question
Do:
- assess the strengths and limitations of a source used for research
- evaluate sources to determine their strengths and weaknesses
- evaluate sources’ effectiveness in speaking to writer’s task, audience, and purpose
- recognize the value of using a variety of sources, rather than relying heavily on a single source
- integrate evidence collected during research into their writing while avoiding plagiarism
- use required format correctly

- Employ a formal note-taking style in the classroom, such as Cornell notes
- Encourage the incorporation of multimodal sources in research, including interviews, observations, texts, digital resources, films, etc., and discuss how citation styles vary for these media
- Reserve resources well in advance to ensure adequate access to resources such as media center, computers, and laboratories
- Examine indicators of credibility in resources, especially digital resources; teach the concept of peer review in scientific articles
- Teach major manuscript styles and require composition of citations without dependence on electronic citation generators
- Maintain the practice of requiring text-based evidence and support for all claims, inferences, and assertions proposed in the classroom, whether formal or informal
- Share effective student models of analysis essays
- Require reliable and easily-referenced knowledge of extensive grade-appropriate list of literary and rhetorical terms
- Incorporate the study of popular literary criticism to scaffold the concept of text analysis

ELAGSE11-12L1: Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.

a. Apply the understanding that usage is a matter of convention, can change over time, and is sometimes contested.

Know:
- Conventions are agreed upon rules used in writing and speaking
- Usage follows a set of rules
- Differences in usage exist (e.g., British and American English, regional dialects)
- Usage changes over time (e.g., using nouns as verbs, technology- or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

Pre-requisite:
- Provide frequent writing opportunities, both formal and routine, brief and extended
- Provide extensive and specific feedback on as much student writing as possible; avoid providing a grade without specific feedback via rubric, commentary, or both
- Require students to maintain a record of their writing throughout the year in the form of a portfolio or compendium
- Create opportunities throughout the year for retrospective review of writing to facilitate a recognition of progress and habits

| Grades 11-12 | ELAGSE11-12L3: Apply knowledge of language to understand how language functions in different contexts, to make effective choices for meaning or style, and to comprehend more fully when reading or listening.
  a. Vary syntax for effect, consulting references (e.g., Tufte's Artful Sentences) for guidance as needed; apply an understanding of syntax to the study of complex texts when reading.
Know:
- syntax is the discipline that examines the rules of a language that dictate how the various parts of sentences go together
- various syntactical structures
- the proper arrangement of words in a sentence clearly expresses the sentence's intended meaning
- syntactic variation creates focus and voice at the sentence level
- syntactical variation is rhetorical; the writer chooses the structure according to the intended effect on an audience
- references such as Tufte's Artful Sentences demonstrate how sentence forms and patterns contribute to meaning and the craft of writing
- how to identify syntactical structures and patterns within complex texts
Do:
- vary syntax for effect in writing
- consult references as guides to use syntax for effect
- identify and apply knowledge of syntactical structure and patterns within complex texts
- apply an understanding of syntax to the study of complex texts when reading
- consult references such as Tufte's Artful Sentences to demonstrate sentence forms and patterns
Pre-requisite:
- Because syntax is an area of focus in the grade 11-12 standards, spend some instructional time on this concept; many students repeat the word "syntax" throughout high school without ever developing a deep understanding of what it means and how it impacts their writing and speaking
- Explain the definition and concept of syntax (patterns of formation of sentences and phrases from words); when we refer to syntax we are referring to the construction and length of sentences and their placement in relation to one another
- Provide examples of various types of sentence constructions one may employ to add variety to your writing (for example, think about the difference in impact on you as a reader when you read each of these three statements: I like cake. I like ice cream./While I enjoy ice cream, I prefer to eat it with cake./Cake. Ice cream. What difference does it make?)
- Require a formal manuscript style such as MLA or APA for at least a few papers each year
- Require students to construct stylistically accurate citations without the assistance of an electronic citation generator
- Use tact and perspective in considering colloquial and dialectic language, remembering that non-standard language is extremely prevalent in the digital age; this concept will require increasing attention as media become ever more prevalent in students' lives
- Provide opportunities for students to write for a purposefully diverse array of audiences and purposes to allow exploration of various choices for meaning and style |
| Grades 11-12 | ELAGSE11-12L4: Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on grades 11-12 reading and content; choosing flexibly from a range of strategies.
  a. Use context (e.g., the overall meaning of a sentence, paragraph, or text; a word's position or function in a sentence) as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase.
Know:
- words that are unknown or unfamiliar in a sentence
- how to identify context clues using the overall meaning of a sentence or paragraph and/or the position or function of a word in a sentence
Do:
- determine the meaning of a word or phrase from context clues
Pre-requisite:
- Encourage students to use their own resources to at least make an attempt at guessing the meaning of a new word before accessing reference materials
- Encourage students to build their own vocabulary; an extensive vocabulary is one of the best indicators of a high score on SAT and ACT exams, as well as one of the best indicators of success in professional and academic discourse
- Embed SAT/ACT vocabulary into your assignments
- Routinely list and explore new words introduced through class texts
- Point out roots and patterns in unfamiliar words
- Have a variety of reference materials on hand other than digital resources so that students gain a working knowledge of the use of dictionaries, glossaries, thesauruses, and appendices

Grades 11-12
ELAGSE11-12SL1: Initiate and participate effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with diverse partners on grades 11-12 topics, texts, and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.

- a. Come to discussions prepared, having read and researched material under study; explicitly draw on that preparation by referring to evidence from texts and other research on the topic or issue to stimulate a thoughtful, well-reasoned exchange of ideas.
- b. Work with peers to set rules for collegial discussions and decision-making, set clear goals and deadlines, and establish individual roles as needed.
- c. Propel conversations by posing and responding to questions that probe reasoning and evidence; ensure a hearing for a full range of positions on a topic or issue; clarify, verify, or challenge ideas and conclusions; and promote divergent and creative perspectives.
- d. Respond thoughtfully to diverse perspectives; synthesize comments, claims, and evidence made on all sides of an issue; resolve contradictions when possible; and determine what additional information or research is required to deepen the investigation or complete the task.

Grades 11-12
ELAGSE11-12SL2: Integrate multiple sources of information presented in diverse formats and media (e.g., visually, quantitatively, orally) in order to make informed decisions and solve problems, evaluating the credibility and accuracy of each source and noting any discrepancies among the data.

Grades 11-12
ELAGSE11-12SL3: Evaluate a speaker’s point of view, reasoning, and use of evidence and rhetoric, assessing the stance, premises, links among ideas,
